

Gauge Hatch

Made of quality material and components, our gauge hatch is used for controlling evaporation process and for dip measurement or for sampling purpose. Placed on the top of the tank, these hatches can easily be opened by pressing the latch with hand or foot. Our range of Gauge hatch is provided with bleeder attachment that makes it possible to relief pressure before opening the tank.